ORDER RE MOTIONS TO SEAL

Re: Dkt. No. 1078

This order adjudicates the motions to seal associated with the briefing on sanctions.

In the context of a motion for sanctions, parties may file documents under seal so long as there is “good cause” to keep the documents from the public’s view. Center for Auto Safety v. Chrysler Group, LLC, 809 F.3d 1092, 1097 (9th Cir. 2016). “For good cause to exist, the party seeking protection bears the burden of showing specific prejudice or harm will result if no protective order is granted.” Phillips ex rel. Estates of Byrd v. General Motors Corp., 307 F.3d 1206, 1210–11 (9th Cir. 2002).

Information From Briefing. At the hearing, Facebook agreed that the briefing on sanctions should not be filed under seal. See Dkt. No. 1048. Facebook’s requests to seal information already made public in that briefing are therefore denied. That includes Facebook’s requests to seal references to the terms “Hive” and “Switchboard,” general descriptions of those terms, the fact that Facebook preserved 137 Hive tables, and certain general information about the transition to Graph API v2.

Names of ADI Consultants and Business Partners. Facebook has not explained why the names of its ADI consultants should be kept confidential. The good cause standard is not satisfied by “generalized allegations of injury to reputation and to [business] relationships.” Glenmede Trust Co. v. Thompson, 56 F.3d 476, 484 (3d Cir. 1995). Some of this information also appears to be public knowledge already. The requests to seal the consultants’ names are denied.

For largely the same reasons, Facebook has not shown good cause to seal the names of its business partners, and so those requests are denied as well.

ADI Memos. Facebook asks to seal in their entirety certain memos prepared by its consultants in connection with its App Developer Investigation. The names of the investigated apps and certain general information included in these memos is already part of the public record. The requests to seal these memos in their entirety are denied. As noted in the chart below, if Facebook would like seal more specific technical information included in these memos, it should file a renewed motion proposing narrowly tailored redactions.

Failure to Highlight Proposed Redactions. For some documents, the parties failed to highlight the proposed redactions on the versions provisionally filed under seal. The requests to seal those documents are denied subject to renewal. The parties should refile the documents with the proposed redactions highlighted.

Technical Information. Facebook has shown good cause to seal certain highly technical information related to its data systems, and so those requests are granted.

Plaintiffs’ Personal Information and Facebook Employees’ Information. The parties have shown good cause to seal certain personal information like the plaintiffs’ browsing history and the names and emails of certain Facebook employees. The requests to seal that information are granted.

The attached chart adjudicates each specific request.¹ Facebook must file the unredacted documents and any renewed motions to seal by December 12, 2022. Facebook must also file a chart cross-referencing the original ECF docket numbers for each document provisionally filed under seal with the newly filed unredacted version (or renewed motion to seal). Any renewed motions should comply with the guidance offered by this order.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
